THE DELAVAN TROUBLE.

The Trustees of the Delavan Institute for the Deaf and Dumb have issued a long card designed to "correct misrepresentations and to relieve unfavorable impressions" regarding their recent action concerning Superintendent W. H. De Motte and Steward Woodbury. The statement is too long for publication in this paper and therefore we must boil it down, but will give all that is necessary to a perfect understanding of the position of the Board of Trustees. The "statement" says:

Principal W. H. De Motte was found charged with—

1. "Ordering several of the older girls, pupils of the Institute, to their rooms and causing them to undress and go to bed in his presence, that they might not thereafter be in a position to cry shame on a teacher."

In regard to these charges the Trustees say that the report affirms that the first of these charges is "negated by the testimony and believed to be utterly without foundation in fact." Respecting the second, the Trustees state: "The investigating Board are of the opinion that there has been no impute or criminal intimacy between Principal De Motte and the female teachers or the older pupils of the Institute. We are however of the opinion that indiscreet familiarity has been more or less indulged." The ground of this light censure appears to be Mr. De Motte's own admission rather than the testimony of others. On inquiry, his utmost offending is said to be that he has occasionally greeted a teacher or a pupil with a kiss on leaving or returning to the Institute, and in two or three instances on a casual meeting of a teacher in the building. In his testimony, Mr. De Motte pronounces his own judgment against such a practice; but to the specific question whether he has ever thus greeted a teacher, he acknowledges that he has on two or three occasions. For this, in the presence of our Board, he expressed his willing acceptance of the verdict "indiscreet familiarity" applied to it. With this before us as his sole offense and with the expressions of the investigating Board concerning his administration, our Board appoint him Principal for another year. They felt that they could not do otherwise without offering a premium to insubordination and malicious scandal."

Steward Woodbury was charged

1. "With the seduction of female pupils."

2. "With having committed rape upon the person of female pupils."

To this the Trustees answer: After long and tedious examination of many witnesses the investigating Board say respecting these charges:

"We reluctantly conclude that A. J. Woodbury did according to the testimony commit an offense, the object being to test the willingness of these girls to submit to his purpose by a surrender of their chastity." This judgment is at the same time qualified by the statement that the acts referred to took place five or six years ago and that for all the time before and since, the conduct and character of Mr. Woodbury stand unexceptionable but for these charges. Before these charges were brought forward, it was the purpose of our Board to abolish the distinct office of Steward and devolve the duties of that office upon the Principal with the assistance of a clerk.

That purpose was now carried out. We did not deem it necessary to pass a distinct judgment on the act of years ago, believing that his own positive and persistent denial, sustained by a character unimpaired by these charges, should weigh something against the questionable testimony of mates, called out by special influences, six years after the occurrence of the acts alleged and especially when it appears that the mother to whom the offense was reported at the time, and whose evidence is of much weight in the matter, did not deem it of sufficient consequence either to keep her daughter from returning to school or to make it known to the principal or any of the teachers or trustees. In view of these considerations, without contesting the conclusion of the investigating Board, this Board, were disposed to give the accused the benefit of the doubt, and therefore refrain from affixing any additional stigma to his character."

The "statement" is signed by A. L. Chapin, E. D. Holton, Hollis Latham, S. Rees, L. B. Bar, and D. G. Cheever, the gentlemen comprising the members of the Board of Trustees.

A correspondent wants to know how we reconcile our statement that an abundant issue of irredeemable paper will ruin business and demoralize trade, with the fact that large property holders and extensive business men like Ben Butler, are in favor of the greenback movement. Ben Butler is no fool, though he may be destitute of principle. He fell out with the Republican party, and could not find a place in the Democratic party. Politically, he was virtually without a home. He wanted place and power. As a Republican he could hope for nothing, and the Democrats with whom he received his political education and training, had not a crumb of comfort to offer him. So he joined the Greenbackers for the leaves and fishes, if purchase there might be any. Butler knows enough to know that the National-Communist Labor-Reform party can not win, and therefore can not under any circumstance control Congress so as to secure an issue of irredeemable and entirely worthless paper. He knows that, and all leaders in the movement know it, but they are seeking office, and are duping their followers in the attempt to carry out their selfish aims.

The New York Board of Health has prescribed whisky for occasional use by babies upon hot days, and is provoking a lively discussion in the New York papers. It is denounced by a great many, and supported by a few. In an editorial on the subject, the New York Herald takes occasion to remark: "The number of nice, full grown young men who under such inducements would claim the protection of the 'Baby act' would astonish any one who does not know the physical delicacy of the average young man. However fastidious parents and physicians may object to this method, the babies are quieted by it and the heart of the coffin maker waxes fat. And if whisky can be made to quiet the nice young man and subject him to the soothing services of undertakers where is the temperance advocate so unreasonable as not to make a willing exception in his favor?"

The Republican State Central Committee held its first meeting this season in Milwaukee on Wednesday. All the members were present, and the utmost harmony prevailed. An address was prepared and was unanimously adopted. It stoutly adheres to the principles of the Republican National platform of 1876; desires the establishment of fraternal relations among all sections of the Union; rejoices in the flattering prospects of the speedy and efficient resumption of specie payments; denounces the irredeemable theory; condemns the Democratic party for attempting to disarm the National Government; declares that the investigation respecting the last Presidential election has completely failed to disclose any improper action by President Hayes; and opposes any further wants of the public domain in aid of corporations.

Tilden has been at Long Branch for a few days taking pleasure on horseback and talking with representative Democrats about what may happen in 1880. He is described as a good type of the incisive lawyer, remorselessly pushing any suit against the unfortunate opponent, without one drop of the blood fed by the milk of human kindness. He is as cold as Charles Francis Adams, and has less soul. A correspondent writing from the Branch, says in conversing with a large number of Democrats, he could find one in favor of his nomination in 1880, but that Thurman was the favorite.

Mr. J. C. Hamilton, the venerable son of the immortal Alexander Hamilton, will probably have a little trouble with that striking specimen of human weakness—James Parton. Hamilton is said to have told a reporter that Parton's so-called life of Jefferson is a libelous book. Now Parton wants him to retract, which Hamilton won't do, of course. On certain biographical subjects Parton writes like a fool. He can get farther away from truth and impartiality than any biographical writer of the present day.

A dispatch from Oshkosh says that ex-State Senator W. H. Hiner, of Fond du Lac, who went into bankruptcy last winter, was Treasurer of the Masonic Grand Lodge. It has transpired that the funds of the Grand Lodge, amounting to $13,000, were absorbed in his failure. He has made a statement to the Grand Lodge officers that he considers the debts an obligation which he is in duty bound to pay, and it is believed that he will eventually settle it.

The Maine Republican State Convention comes out squarely for a paper currency as sound as gold and silver. The sixth plank reads: "We demand honest money for the people, and our currency must be made as good as coin, and redeemable in it. The government promises this, the Republican party has legislated to perform it, and in the course of resumption now nearly accomplished, there must be no step sideways or backward."

The officers of the various mining companies in Pennsylvania, hold different opinions regarding the prospects of a strike among the miners this month. While a few are apprehensive of trouble, many others feel assured that there will be no strike; that the generality of the workmen are satisfied with their wages, and therefore have no cause of complaint.

We publish to-day some interesting dispatches from Milwaukee, regarding the wheat corner in that city, which culminated amid the intensest excitement yesterday afternoon. It is reported that McGeogh & Co. made a sum estimated at from $100,000 to $500,000. It was the most successful speculation ever known in Milwaukee.

The labor riots in Washington have ended as all labor riots and strikes do, detrimental to the laborers. There has never been a riot or a strike in this country, growing out of the question of labor or wages, in which the workmen were benefited. In Washington the laborers are anxious to go to work again for $1.25 per day.

We print to-day a communication of some interest from an ex-Confederate, in regard to the so-called battle of Lookout Mountain. He endorses the statement made to John Russell Young by General Grant, that the "battle above the clouds" is a myth.

The Greenbackers of the fourth Congressional District, are forming a union with the Socialists or Communists and together will nominate E. P. Allis for Congress. Nothing could be more natural than such a coalition.

The railway accident near Oregon station on the Northwestern, cost about $65,000. A pretty good price to pay for a young man who did not have sense enough to attend to his business.

It has come to this in Ohio, that a torpedo must be buried with a corpse in order to prevent the body from being stolen. One of these machines has been invented and works well.

THE WHEAT CORNER.

The July Wheat Corner Culminated in Milwaukee.

MILWAUKEE, July 31.—The corner in the July wheat culminated amid great excitement at 2:30 this afternoon. A few minutes before the noon Board closed McGeogh instructed his brokers to bid $1.30 for all the July wheat offered, thus establishing the price at which delinquents must settle. Settlements were made for all but $1,000 bushels. This amount is due from prominent members of the Board, who claim their deals are margined to a higher figure than the closing price, but they were forbidden by their customers to settle. The matter will be thrown into the hands of the Committee on Arbitration.

McGeogh & Co.'s profits by the corner are variously estimated at from $100,000 to $500,000. It is certainly the most successful manipulation ever attempted in the Northwest. It is now thought August wheat is cornered.

MILWAUKEE, July 31.—Amidst a scene of tempestuous excitement unequalled by any previous experience in Milwaukee, the Chamber of Commerce closed to-day. In the July corner in wheat, from the morning opening the storm began, and raged without any lull between the Boards, after bordering personal violence between the contending parties, and the turbulence was so excessive that the din was heard a block away in all directions. The market for July wheat opened at one dollar and twenty cents and speedily advanced to $1.22 and $1.23, at which some settlements were made. After that the rise was sharp and rapid, and reached $1.25, from that to $1.28 and $1.30. Mr. McGeogh boldly made his offers towards the close of the afternoon Board. His brokers took in some 50,000 bushels at $1.28, and at the last moment, bid $1.30 and Alexander Young jumped on at that figure. Mr. McGeogh said, said, as the hours advanced and the time to close was short, "I will take all the July wheat offered at $1.50 or $2 if sellers have the wheat to deliver and ask that price," but, of course there was no wheat to sell at any price. At 2:15 o'clock p. m. Mr. McGeogh took the stand and read from a list the shorts who refused to cover, as follows: Charley Ray & Co., 20,000 bushels; C. J. Ker-shaw & Co., 30,000 bushels; Dwight, Poole & Co., 10,000 bushels; J. B. Oliver & Co., 15,000 bushels; Elmore & Kelley, 40,000 bushels; total, $1,000 bushels. As he read the list and shouted his final bid to establish the settlement price, McGeogh yelled, "Good by, boys, the thing is over, and I've got even with you!" The total profits in the corner are estimated at $250,000, of which McGeogh's share is stated at $100,000, the balance going to the backers who furnished the money. It is the most successful corner ever run in the Northwest.

WISCONSIN.

Meeting of the Republican State Central Committee—The Business Transacted.

MILWAUKEE, July 21.—The meeting of the Republican State Central Committee was held in this city at the Plankinton House to-day. The Hon. Horace Rublee was present, and presided over the meeting of the Committee. There were present also of the Committee the following: At large, Horace Rublee, Chairman; First District, R. H. Baker, of Racine; Frank Leland, of Walworth; Second District, E. O. Jones, of Columbia; E. E. Woodman, of Sauk; Third District, G. Bowen, of Green; Fourth District, J. R. Brigham, of Milwaukee; L. F. Frisby, of West Bend; Fifth District, Charles Luling, of Manitowish; George W. Carter, of Fond du Lac; Sixth District, L. B. Sale, of Green Bay; J. H. Foster, of Winnebago; Seventh District, no representation; Eighth District, T. O. Raymond, of Portage; Frank Leland is United States Consul at Hamilton, Canada, and resigned his position as Secretary of the Committee. The Hon. J. H. Foster, of Winnebago County, was elected in his place. A resolution was adopted directing the Chairman to call a meeting of the Committee at Madison as soon as practicable after the candidates for members of Congress are nominated in the several districts, and to invite the special Legislative Campaign Committees, and the various Congressional District Committees, to be present at that meeting. It was expected that the Congressional candidates and other leading Republicans will also be present. An address was adopted to the people of the State, and the utmost harmony prevails, while a determination was expressed to organize a vigorous campaign and to secure a Republican Legislature.

TONING DOWN.

The South Carolina Press Toning Down on the Difficulties in that State.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—A number of South Carolina papers which arrived here to-night that have heretofore been very defiant in their tone in discussing the question of the Government enforcing the law in that State, are much more moderate in their expressions than at any time since the present questions become prominent. One of them, which has been particularly violent and has taken pains to emphasize Judge Kershaw's threat that an attempt on the part of the Government to enforce its own process in this matter might lead to trouble, contents itself with a long legal review of the case, and wholly omits its usual bluster. These indications are regarded with satisfaction by the authorities here in view of the fact that this toning down of the press may have the effect of averting any difficulty whatever when the next step of the Government is taken, which will be a few days hence.

GENERAL DEVENS.

Rumor Says he will be Appointed Circuit Judge in New England.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Attorney General Devens is authority for the statement that no successor will be appointed to the judgeship of the New England Circuit, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Shepherd, last week, until Congress meets. There is, in this connection, a rumor, so well founded as to bear publication, that General Devens will take the position himself. This course on his part will be wholly voluntary, as he is in perfect harmony with the President, and the latter is desirous that he should remain on the cabinet.

General Devens is thoroughly sick of Washington life as a public man, and this judgeship is just the life for an easy going old bachelor.

St. CHARLES, Minn., July 30.—Anticipating a great rush of tramps about this season, the male citizens of St. Charles formed themselves into a police force a week or two ago, and so nearly every full grown man in town wears a star.

Seedy strangers arriving in town on the cars or otherwise receive much attention. They are not allowed to sleep in or around the depot, and unless in search of work, are politely marched out of town.

Harvest hands were scarce last week, but they began to accumulate. None of them demand less than $2 a day, and some get $3.50. Your genuine tramp smiles at the figures, and turns away, saying he can do better.

ON THE RIO GRANDE.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—A letter received by General Sherman to-day, from General Ord, states that General Mackenzie has not crossed into Mexico, as has been reported. The river is so high that neither party can cross. Everything is quiet on the border.

PARKER NOMINATED.

ELKHORN, Aug. 1.—Hon. Charles H. Parker, of Beloit, was nominated for Congress to-day by the irredeemable rag party. The attendance was slim.

The Burlington Hawkeye says "Tilden's salary as President has been running so long it must be about outlawed."

Superintendent Whitford Interviewed.

I met State Superintendent Whitford the other day, and he took occasion to make some exceptions to my suggestions relative to the Normal School fund. I have Mr. Whitford's assurance that the fund and its accounts are in the very best possible shape; and also the eminent educator's opinion that the plan of teachers' institutes which I have tenderly criticized, is especially commendable.

Our State Superintendent of Public Instruction said:

"I have very carefully examined all phases of our system of holding teachers' institutes, and I am prepared to say that the educational interests of the State are better advanced by that system, in proportion to the amount of money expended, than in any other way. Last year we held thirty-nine institutes and gave special instructions to over four thousand six hundred teachers, two-thirds of whom had had experience in teaching. These institutes were held in forty-eight out of the sixty counties in the State. Over one-half of the institutes were two weeks terms. Although but four regular conductors have these institutes in charge, over thirty of the best educators in the State were selected as assistants in the institute work; all were not only first-class recitation teachers, but were excellent platform talkers or instructors. The plan of all our institutes now is to compel careful recitations and thorough work. Indeed, so successful has our plan of institutes been, that Iowa has adopted the same system, and Michigan is preparing to do so immediately. The institute is no longer the rendezvous for social pleasure and gossip; it is the school of hard study and close application. The most eminent educators in the State instruct the teachers in the very same manner that they do their own pupils. Less experienced teachers get the immediate benefit of what it has perhaps taken years of thought and labor to perfect in the systems of our best educators. I look upon the money expended in carrying on our teachers' institutes as the most profitably expended portion of our school fund. We are rapidly developing a corps of teachers in Wisconsin second to none in the country."

In referring to the matter of text books and book agents, State Superintendent Whitford very cordially and fully endorsed the criticisms that have appeared in these letters, and expressed the opinion that the proper book agent disappeared from the politics of Wisconsin the better it would be for educational interests in general and some school officers in particular.—Milwaukee Correspondence Chicago Times, July 28th.

The recovery of digestion and the resumption of activity by the liver, bowels and kidneys are milestones which mark our progress on the road to health. They speedily become perceptible when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is used by the invalid. Nothing so early and expeditiously consumes the distance to the desired goal. As no bodily function can suffer interruption without impairing the general health of the system, so the system can never acquire perfect vigor, health, symmetry, until that function be actively resumed. Take, for instance, digestion, a suspension of which is invariably rectified by the Bitters. If the organs upon which it devolves grow weak, biliousness, constipation, headache, poverty of the blood, and a hundred other symptoms supervene, which indicate unmistakably the baneful general influence of dyspepsia. The disappearance of all these symptoms through the use of the Bitters shows with what thoroughness it removes their cause.

LOOKOUT MOUNTAIN.
A Confederate Officer Agrees with General Grant that there was no battle.

To the Editor of the Philadelphia Times:

The battle of Lookout Mountain, says General Grant, was one of the romances of the war. There was no such battle and no action even worthy to be called a battle on Lookout Mountain.

I clipped the foregoing from the Times of to-day. It is in perfect agreement with my own observation and knowledge. As a temporary brigade commander in Bates' division of Breckinridge's corps, Army of Tennessee, and as corps officer of the day on the occasion of the capture of Lookout Mountain, whose duty required him to be, most of the time, in the front of the picket line, the left of which rested on Chattanooga creek, near where it flows into the Tennessee river at the foot of the mountain, and is, owing to a meteorological phenomenon which wrapped the valley and at least one-half of the mountains, from the base upward, in Egyptian darkness, orders requiring unusual vigilance lest a surprise attack should be attempted, were received; and, as in consequence, special watchfulness was maintained, particularly on the left of the line, which was thought to be the most exposed, and as I was on the picket line all the forenoon and until 1 o'clock p.m., giving the strictest attention to every circumstance that could arouse suspicion, I feel safe in asserting that no one in either army, not actually engaged, had better opportunities than I for knowing whether an affair that could by any reasonable possibility be magnified in a "battle," did take place on that occasion on Lookout Mountain.

Now, a just conception of the magnitude of the "Battle of Lookout Mountain"--the famous "Battle above the Clouds"--may be formed when I declare that not a circumstance, not even the irritating firing of picket skirmishers, occurred to disturb the prevailing stillness.

I distinctly recall the surprise I experienced when, about 2 o'clock p.m., Major Wilson, assistant adjutant general of General Breckinridge's staff, to whom I was reporting all quiet in front, after a short interview with a young officer, who, riding rapidly through the clouds to the summit of Mission Ridge, excitedly inquired for General Bragg's headquarters, informing me that we had lost Lookout Mountain. It came like a "clap of thunder from a clear sky" for it was the first intimation that either of us had that the enemy was moving, and I suspected it was equally as great a surprise to General Bragg.

The young officer was an aide of General Carter Stevenson, who, with his divisions, was upon the summit of Lookout Mountain; and I learned that the first information General Stevenson received of the capture of the mountain was derived from some of his soldiers, who, sauntering on the edge of the cliff which overlooks the river and the City of Chattanooga, discovered, through the mists in the clouds that the Federal soldiers were occupying the Confederate rifle pits below, near the Cran House.

Never have I witnessed a more beautiful protechnic display than, with the huge Lookout as a black background, the firing of the forces contending for the road by which General Stevenson withdrew his troops exhibited on the mountain side that night. The interchange of leaden compliments then made I distinctly saw and heard from my position near the foot of the mountain, but never did sound of "battle," or contest of any kind, attract my notice during the day.

There are some deeply interesting facts connected with the capture of Lookout Mountain which have never been published. For several years I have been gathering data for a paper on the subject. Strange to say that, after repeated efforts, I have been unsuccessful in procuring a copy of General Hooker's report of the battle, "romance," the battle of Lookout Mountain, with General Grant's significant endorsement thereon.

GEORGE THOMAS MAXWELL.
Late Colonel First Florida Cavalry.
New Castle, Del., July 25, 1878.

HOW TO SAVE INFANTS.
Plain and Simple Rules to be Observed by Mothers During the Hot Season.

The New York board of health has published the following rules for the care of children during the hot season:

NURSING OF INFANTS.
Over feeding does more harm than anything else; nurse an infant a month or two old every two or three hours.

Nurse an infant of six months or over five times in twenty-four hours, and no more.

If an infant is thirsty, give it pure water or barley water; no sugar.

On the hottest days a few drops of whiskey may be added to either water or food; the whiskey not to exceed a teaspoonful in twenty-four hours.

FEEDING OF INFANTS.
Boil a teaspoonful of powdered barley (ground in a coffee grinder) and a gill of water, with a little salt for fifteen minutes, strain, then mix it with half as much boiled milk, add a lump of white sugar size of a walnut, and give it lukewarm, from a nursing bottle. Keep bottle and mouth-pieces in a bowl of water when not in use, to which a little soda may be added.

For infants five or six months old, give half barley and half boiled milk, with salt and a lump of sugar.

For older infants, give more milk than barley water.

For infants very costly, give oatmeal instead of barley. Cook and strain as before.

When your breast milk is only half enough, change of breast milk and this prepared food.

In hot weather, if blue litmus paper applied to the food, turns red, the food is too acid, and you must make a fresh mess, or add a very small pinch of baking soda.

Infants of six months may have beef tea or beef soup once a day, by itself, or mixed with other food; and when over twelve months old a crust of bread and a piece of raw beef to suck.

No child under two years ought to eat at your table.

Give no candies, in fact nothing that is not contained in these rules, without a doctor's orders.

It comes from over feeding, and hot and foul air. Keep doors and windows open.

Wash your children well with cold water twice a day, and often in the hot season.

Never neglect cleanliness of the bowels in an infant; consult the family or dispensary physician at once, and he will give you rules about what it should take and how it should be nursed. Keep your rooms as cool as possible, have them well ventilated, and do not allow any bad smells to come from stinks, privies, garbage boxes or gutters about the house where you live. See that your own apartments are right, and complain to the board of health if the neighborhood is offensive. Where an infant is cross and irritable in the hot weather a trip on the water will do it a great deal of good (ferry boat or steamboat), and may prevent cholera infantum.

Justice and Finance in San Francisco.
San Francisco has a police justice who deals out the terms of the law mainly with a view to filling the municipal treasury, and there is hardly any office on which he is empowered to administer judgment, but may be atoned for by a cash payment. He is a profitable judicial officer, peculiarly, though he may be a loss otherwise. The fines imposed by him on an average day foot up $2,000. Among the sentences were: For disturbing the peace, $500, or 15 days; for indulging in profane language, $300 or 150 days; for battery, $300, or 150 days; for misdemeanor, $140, or 75 days; for a drunk, $150 or 60 days.
